Lorain's story just won't end

GRAFTON — Lorain hasn't ordered its glass slipper yet, but someone had better find out the Steelmen's shoe size

Lorain (16-6) appears poised to write its own Cinderella story after adding another chapter to its second season, by knocking off second seeded Westlake 45-41 Wednesday night in the Division I district semifinals at Midview High School

The fourth-seeded Steelmen will now meet top seed Lakewood Saturday at 7 p m for the district championship

As they have done all year, the Steelmen used relentless defensive pressure to upset their opponent's offensive continuity, refusing to allow the Demons to carry out their game plan at both ends of the court

"They just played great defense," said Westlake coach Art Daniels, whose squad bowed out of tournament play with a final record of 18-4 "We couldn't handle the ball and get into our offense They totally outplayed us in every phase of the game and it all started with defense "

Lorain was able to offset the Demons height advantage with defensive quickness and the guard tandem of Carl White (14 points) and Greg Williams (13 points), who accounted for 27 of their team's point total for the game Williams two free throws with :38 7 seconds remaining proved to be the game winner

"It's a credit to the kids," said Steelmen head man John Rositano "They worked so hard to get to this point Our assistants have done a great job, and the kids listen to what they tell them to do It's nothing spectacular, the kids just play basketball the way they're taught "

The Lorain players became the teachers Wednesday night, displaying to the Midview High packed house, the art of dictating the defensive tempo

The Steelmen held Westlake to nearly 20 points under its season average, including limiting the Demons to 13 first half points

Part of Westlake's problem through the game's first 16 minutes was field goal shooting, where it converted just four of its 22 attempts

The Demons owned the offensive glass throughout the entire opening quarter — nine offensive rebounds — but could not convert, opening the door for a perfect Steelmen first half

"We were controlling the game with our defense," said Rositano "We stressed that we had to stay in their face and run our good set offense "

Trailing 18-13 to open the second half, Westlake tied it at 18 with a Todd Compton 3 pointer followed by an inside basket from Jon Myer off a dish from 6-foot-8 center Bret Fisher Fisher was a non entity throughout the contest due to Westlake's inability to get the ball inside for the full 32 minutes

Lorain freshman Londie Ransom didn't experience the same trouble, putting the Steelmen in front 32 26 after three quarters with a buzzer beater from the top of the key

The Steelmen carried that momentum into the final quarter, where they led 36-29 at the 6:21 mark when Williams knifed through the lane and flipped in a layup for his 11th point

Westlake would not die and fought back to get within a bucket at 41 39 when Fisher finally scored inside with a little over a minute to play

The Demons got the opportunity to knot the score at 41 when a Lorain turnover and subsequent foul put Compton on the line, shooting one and one

The Westlake point guard missed the front end and when Williams was fouled with :38 seconds, he didn't miss, putting Lorain in front to stay

Chris Hollick then brought the Demons to within two on a driving layup, but as Westlake raced in futility to foul and stop the clock, Ransom was left unattended under the basket and sealed the Demons fate with his easiest hoop of the night

BEREA — Olmsted Falls' Nick Neumeister didn't think he could handle the pressure

Neumeister was at the foul line with his team down two points and only three seconds left in overtime of the Division II district semifinal game at Baldwin Wallace College

When Rocky River called a time out to try to ice Neumeister, a 50 percent free throw shooter, team mate Tim Schaefer yelled out in encouragement, "Come on Nick, you can do it "

"No, I can't," Neumeister answered "I'm too scared "

Scared or not, Neumeister sank both his shots and the Bulldogs outscored the Pirates 9-7 in the decisive second overtime for a 62-60 win

Rocky River, which had lost to Olmsted Falls twice earlier in the season, looked like it was going to win several times In fact, many thought the Pirates were going to be the team to advance to the sectional finals against Bay at B W on Saturday

Rocky River had its first chance to win in the closing seconds of regulation Mike Lichko, a 6 foot-6 center, got the ball in the low post, split two defenders and went up for a layup as the buzzer sounded with the scored tied at 48 The shot rolled around on the rim long after the echo of the buzzer faded away and finally fell off, forcing the first overtime

It looked like the Pirates had the Bulldogs on the ropes again when Neumeister, who had air balled a free throw earlier in the night, was at the line After Neumeister hit his shots, Pirate Chad Standring dashed up court and launched a 3-pointer from half court The shot looked on target, but the ball bounced off the rim, forcing the second overtime

In that final frame Olmsted Falls, which is now 16-6, led the whole way, getting balanced scoring

Neumeister's heroics kept the Bulldogs alive, but it was the outstanding play of Matt Tabar, who had a game-high 27 points, and Tim Schaefer, who had 20 points and 16 rebounds, that gave him the chance to be a hero field goal attempts and all 12 of her free throw tries She had 40 points by the end of the third quarter and was lifted for good with about five-and-a-half minutes remaining

English said he had no idea how many points Bergman had when he removed her for the last time

"I just wanted to give her back some confidence If I'd known she was that close to the school scoring record (50) I might have left her in and let her go for it," he said

Jennifer Timbrook had 14 points and 13 rebounds for the Apaches The single bright spot for the Longhorns was Crystal Evans, who had 14 points and nine rebounds

"Crystal played a nice game for having been sick on Tuesday (sore throat) and missing school," Wittrock said "My freshman (Becky Mooney) did well, too The other girls played with their hearts I know they're disappointed, because this has been a very close team "

playing far more man to man defense than originally planned

Meanwhile Bay sank 23 of 42 shots for 54 8 percent Even though the Rockets were just 6 of 18 from the 3-point line, they were able to get high percentage shots by penetrating the West defense

Frank Garrity and Michael Masterson, in particular, hurt the Wolverines with their dribble drives

West hurt itself with 15 turnovers, many the result of an inability to catch the basketball

"As disappointed as I with the result, I am proud of the effort," Mohr said "I hate to end on this note, but we competed until the end."

Bay will now try to reverse two losses at the hands of Olmsted Falls in the title game

"Between now and Saturday I've got to figure a way to make it a little better game," Scott said "But it's nice to be in this position The kids are so thrilled to be in this position We're where we want to be "

And where the Wolverines hope to be next year

step into the ring with Tyson again

"This is an opportunity for me to go back and make right what went wrong This a huge motivation," said Douglas, who hasn't fought since a humiliating third-round knockout at the hands of Evander Holyfield in October 1990

Sound far-fetched? How about a matchup with Larry Holmes? Holmes is scheduled to fight WBC champ Oliver McCall on April 8 Then there's Lennox Lewis, who will face Lionel Butler of Philadelphia on May 13.

Tyson was sentenced to six years in prison but earned one day off his sentence for each day of good behavior

Tyson's last petition for release earlier than March 25 was denied by Superior Court Judge Patricia Gifford on Feb 10, three years to the day after he was convicted of one count of rape and two counts of deviate sexual conduct

The woman was a contestant in the annual Miss Black America pageant and claimed Tyson attacked her in his downtown hotel room At his trial, Tyson said the 18 year old college freshman had consented to having sex

'Jacks' rally comes up short

CLEVELAND — After being dominated for two periods, the Lumberjacks rallied in the third only to fall short in a 5-2 loss to Milwaukee Wednesday night in front of 7,333 at Gund Arena.

After an early third period goal, the Admirals took a 4 0 lead before the Lumberjacks rallied on two goals by Brad Lauer within a 19 second span The second goal at the 11 46 mark brought the Lumberjacks within two at 4-2, but Cleveland would get no closer The teams played on even terms until Gino Cavallini's empty net goal at the 18 48 mark Cavallini's goal completed a hat trick He also scored goals in the first and second periods

Cleveland goalie Patrick Lalime had 31 saves as his record dropped to 5-4-4 The Lumberjacks outshot Milwaukee 37 35
