Dukes' discipline stifles Oberlin

WELLINGTON — Bobby Knight would have been proud of Wellington Tuesday night.

The Dukes upset Oberlin 75-54, displaying discipline on offense and defense, protecting the ball and hustling for every loose ball.

The only thing the Indiana University coach wouldn't have liked was Wellington's zone defense.

Using solid picks, crisp ball movement and unselfish passing, the Dukes continued to get open looks at the basket and consistently made the open shots.

"We got back to basics on Monday at practice," Wellington coach Jerry Camp said. "And I think the kids came out and executed the basics."

After falling behind 5-2, Wellington (5-4, 2-3) scored seven straight points and never trailed again, increasing or maintaining their lead after every quarter of the Lorain County Conference matchup.

Senior forward Scott Boozer led all scorers with 27 points for the Dukes. Boozer made nine of 13 shots from the field, including five of five for 14 points in the second period. He also snared eight rebounds.

"The difference tonight was Boozer," Camp said. "Both ends of the floor he was playing his heart out. That's Scott's style of game."

Every time Oberlin (6-3, 3-2) looked poised to take the lead, Wellington answered with its own run.

With about 4:00 left in the second quarter Oberlin seemed ready to take control. Trailing 21-12, Parren Lake missed a three-pointer for the Indians. Antonio Barbra, 12 points and 12 rebounds, followed the with a monster left-handed tip dunk that rattled the rim.

Dequan Thomas, who scored 15 to lead Oberlin, then hit a three. After a Wellington timeout, Mario Gibbs converted a three-point play on a putback and foul to pull the Indians within one.

The Dukes, however, did not wilt under the mounting pressure. After working for an open shot, sophomore guard Troy Mills hit a three pointer to stop the Indian run.

When Boozer converted a steal into a layup, the Dukes had rebuilt their lead to eight. He also hit two threes down the stretch to give Wellington a 34-27 lead at halftime.

"This is a real big win," Boozer said. "It's a real lift up for the team and the school."

The Dukes outscored Oberlin 28-14 in the third stanza. Staying one step ahead of the Oberlin defense, the Dukes made their open shots, hitting 10 of 16, including 6 of 8 from behind the arc in the quarter.

Mills hit two from long distance and junior guard Keith Wacker, who finished with 14 points off the bench, hit three bombs. Wacker's threes came in the last 1:22 of the quarter, pushing the lead to an insurmountable 23 points.

"They shot well. Wellington played well," Oberlin coach Joe Harris said. "They moved the ball around, played good team basketball. Tonight they were a better team than we were."

Wellington's schedule does not lighten with a Friday visit to Elyria West, which is 5-0 in the LCC.

Oberlin hosts Keystone on Friday.

Olmsted Falls suffers first loss

STRONGSVILLE — On the same day Olmsted Falls earned the No. 3 spot in the first Associated Press' boys basketball poll of the season, the Bulldogs tasted their first defeat.

Beleaguered by an aggressive Strongsville team throughout the evening, Olmsted Falls stayed close before falling 68-60 in non-conference action.

The loss dropped the Bulldogs to 8-1 on the season (4-0 Southwestern Conference).

"It was the first physical game we've played all year," said Olmsted Falls coach Pat Donahue.

"Strongsville did a very good job, and they were very well prepared. They exposed some things that we've got to work on."

No friendly faces for winless Cards

LORAIN — Clearview was not being neighborly.

That was not charity or pity for a winless conference member that allowed Brookside to turn what looked to be a fairly easy Clearview win into a real palm-sweating affair in the final moments Tuesday night.

"Every game's a rough one, that's for sure," Clearview coach John Szalay said after his Clippers hung on for a 67-61 win at home. "I think the Lorain County Conference is really about the toughest I've seen it from (teams) one through eight. Every night it's a battle."

The Clippers raised their record to 3-5 overall and to 2-3 in the LCC. Brookside, which lost to Keystone by two on Friday night, remained winless and frustrated at 0-8 and 0-5.

"It's disappointing," Brookside coach Gene Leonard said of his team's winless spell. "I've never been Oh. Not for a long, long time. This is a thing we have to fight through. I'm not used to this and neither are my players. But when you see the effort out there, you think there's hope."

Leonard saw plenty of effort Tuesday. And because of his team's refusal to roll over, the Cardinals had more than hope in the final minute and a half. They had a legitimate shot.

Despite trailing 63-55 with 1:38 to play, the Cardinals turned up the defensive heat and watched the Clippers' lead melt. Three straight Clearview turnovers allowed Brookside to pull within two at 63-61 with 32 seconds to go. The Clippers' fourth straight turnover gave Brookside the ball and a shot at tying the score or taking the lead.

That's when things went wrong for the Cardinals.

First, Brookside got stuck with the wrong end of a close call when Jon Wright was nailed with a charging foul as he flung himself toward the basket. Then, faced with needing to foul to try to get the ball back, the Cardinals picked the wrong guy to put on the line.

Clearview's Eric Gilbert, who led all scorers with 25 points and was a perfect 7-for-7 from the free throw line, oh-so-calmly swished a pair of foul shots to push the Clipper lead to four with 16 seconds to play. Robbie Collier added two more free throws after a Brookside turnover to account for the final margin.

"Obviously I see it one way and they (the officials) see it another way," Leonard said of the critical charge call. "You have to live with it. Once the call is made you just have to play it. They're not going to change it. It's not like they're going to take a vote."

Brookside opened the game looking like anything but a team in search of its first win. The Cardinals bolted to an 11-3 lead, but the Clippers managed to close the quarter down just two at 17-15.

In fact, Brookside had trouble at the close of the first three quarters Tuesday night. The Clippers scored four points in the final 20 seconds of the first period and six points in the final five seconds of the second, sandwiching two three-point plays around a Cardinal turnover.

In the third quarter, Brookside cut an 11-point Clipper lead to six with 4:09 left, then didn't score another point until almost two minutes into the fourth quarter.

"That's been our story," Leonard said. "We play well, then we dig ourselves a hole and have to dig out."

Senior guard Brett Williams did a good deal of the shoveling for the Cardinals. Williams hit 9 of 11 shots from the floor, including a pair of 3-pointers, in scoring a team high 21 points. He also led the Cardinals with 11 rebounds, four of which came at the offensive end and led to seven points. Wright and Jay Mahon, two other senior guards, added 16 and 12 points, respectively.

Besides Gilbert, Clearview benefited from the inside presence of 6-5 junior center Robert Russell, who got a boatload of easy baskets en route to 19 points and eight rebounds.

The Clippers also got a boost from their bench, which got the team back in the game after Brookside's fast start.

"We went eight deep, maybe nine," Szalay said. "Those guys really gave us a spark."

Brookside provided the scare.

No. 1 Lutheran West ups record to 10-0

ROCKY RIVER — Lutheran West, usually a low scoring but effective team, abandoned its methodical ways Tuesday night, lighting up MAC-8 rival Richmond Heights 62-32 to remain undefeated.

The Longhorns, (10-0 overall, 8-0 MAC-8), outscored Richmond Heights 21-8 in the opening quarter and led 31-16 at the half, cruising in the second half.

"It was just one of those games," said Lutheran West head coach Karen Wittrock, whose squad is the No. 1 ranked Division III team in the state. "We got a lot of steals and just shot really well."

Three Lady Longhorns were in double figures led by Crystal Evans' 14 points. Becky Mooney had 13 and Emily Hass finished with 10.

Frustration mounts for Keystone coach

Bob West

LA GRANGE — As losses go, Keystone's 68-52 defeat against Avon Tuesday night was particularly difficult for Wildcat coach Greg Morgan.

"I don't know what to tell you guys," Morgan said when meeting with reporters afterwards.

Morgan was able to share a few words with his team, however, holding them in the locker room for a 20-minute team meeting after the loss.

"We talked a lot about the program," Morgan said of the meeting. "We're going to find out who's really with the program tomorrow at practice. I told them I'm in this for the long haul, but that's not how Keystone basketball is going to be. That's just not how it's going to be."

After a fairly even first quarter in which the Eagles (5-3, 3-2) took a 16-11 lead, the Wildcats (4-4, 2-3) began to struggle offensively in the second quarter. Keystone managed just eight shots in the quarter while turning the ball over seven times.

"We talked all week in practice about intensity and concentration," Morgan said, "But we must've had 10 possessions in a row in the first half where we came down, made just one pass and took a shot."

While the Wildcats struggled from the floor, Eagle guard Steve
