North Olmsted gets past Westlake

WESTLAKE — Not many people would find Friday night's North Olmsted-Westlake matchup offensive in terms of point production.

It was far from pretty, but the Eagles (4-5, 7-7) sneaked out of town with a 42-34 win because they finally found a scoring attack in the fourth quarter to turn a 25-24 deficit into the eight-point win.

For the Demons (5-4, 9-6), the storyline was a complete inability to score all night long. Westlake scored just 9, 8, 8 and 9 points in the four quarters respectively, yet still led after three.

Gino Caponi's three-point field goal midway through the first quarter put Westlake on top 3-2, and the Demons nursed that lead to as many as five points, at 12-7, in the second quarter.

The only reason the game had even that much scoring came because of the Eagles' frequent trips to the free throw line. North Olmsted hit just 2-of-14 field goals in the first half, but tallied nine points from the charity stripe on 17 attempts.

In the second half, Eagles forward Joe Smith nearly outscored the entire Westlake squad. Smith hit for 14 points in the final two quarters to lead the attack.

"I told the seniors at halftime that they weren't showing the leadership I expected from them," said Eagle coach Tim Schmotzer. "In the second half, Joe really stepped it up."

After Westlake forward Kevin Houser missed the second of two free throws with 3:04 left in the game, a rebound basket by Brad Westfall put the Demons back in front, 32-31.

Angel Lozada answered with the biggest shot of the night though, a three-point bomb from the left wing with 1:58 remaining for a lead the Eagles would not relinquish.

Westlake continued to struggle in the waning minutes while North Olmsted padded its lead with last-minute layups against the Demon press.

"We've been the same type of team all year," said Schmotzer.

"Defense and rebounding does it for us, but tonight I thought we found some offensive continuity in the second half."

Art Daniels, Westlake's coach, said his team couldn't stay focused during the decisive fourth quarter.

"We just weren't as mentally tough as they were," Daniels said. "This was just two tough defensive teams going after each other where the first one to blink loses, and our offensive players discouraged us too easily."

Tonight Westlake visits Rocky River and North Olmsted travels to Southwestern Conference-leading Olmsted Falls.

Another rival subdued, Falls moves closer to title

Steve Byrne
The Chronicle-Telegram

OLMSTED FALLS — A fine little backyard scrap took the year off this season.

"I think this is a great rivalry," Olmsted Falls coach Pat Donahue said of his team's annual home-and-home series with Rocky River.

"For the seven years I've been in the Southwestern Conference and the seven years (Rocky River coach) Jim (Rucki) has been in the league I can't think of too many games that have been blow-outs."

Two should come readily to mind. The Bulldogs ran their record in the SWC to 9-0 with a 71-52 victory over River on Friday. Couple that with Falls' 87-64 triumph earlier this season, and it appears as if the Pirates are just another weigh station on the Bulldogs' road to a conference championship.

"River is still a quality team and a quality program," Donahue said. "Any time you can beat Rocky River you're happy."

There were still a few tense moments for Falls. A 14-point lead early in the second quarter was whittled to three before halftime as the Bulldogs fought a tough and effective Rocky River full-court press. Falls' lead was still only 40-34 three minutes into the second half.

But the "Dogs went on a 12-2 spree to just about squash any hope the Pirates had about an upset. Falls opened an 18-point lead at the start of the fourth quarter and finished the game with 26-of-42 field goal shooting.

"They're a great team when they hit their shots," Rucki said. "They were hitting them tonight."

Tim Schaefer, despite persistent foul troubles, led Falls with 18 points and seven rebounds. Tim Matus added 16 points. River was paced by Chad Standing with 15 points and Brad Niksa with 14.

Falls now owns a 13-2 overall record. Rocky River is 5-4 in the SWC and 7-8 in all games.

The Bulldogs hit eight of their first 10 shots and broke a 10-10 tie with an 11-point run in the first period. A 3-point basket by Matus made it 26-12 at 6:21 of the second frame.

Then the Pirates' press began to take a toll as the Bulldogs committed seven turnovers in the second quarter. Two free throws by Niksa made it 30-27 with 1:20 to go before intermission.

"Our press bothered them a couple of times," Rucki said, "but we didn't want to use it. We did it out of desperation. When they beat it they got easy layups."

"I don't they caught us off guard with the press," Donahue said. "I think we just didn't execute. We work on breaking presses in practice so I was glad they used it. You have to work on something and never see it in a game."

Matt Tabar and Nick Neumeister reached double figures for Falls with 11 and 10 points respectively. Tabar's two 3-pointers a minute apart in the third quarter enabled the Bulldogs to get their lead back to double digits for good.

COLLEGE BASKETBALL

Wooster stops Oberlin

OBERLIN (AP) — Ryan Gorman and Lamont Paris scored 13 points each to lead Wooster to a 65-62 victory over Oberlin in the North Coast Athletic Conference on Friday.

Oberlin (2-17 overall, 0-11 NCAC) held the lead only once at 5-4 with 16:41 remaining. Wooster (16-4, 9-3) led 37-23 at the half, and led by as many as 15 points, 40-25, early in the second half.

Oberlin managed to cut Wooster's lead to five points on a 10-0 run ending with 15:22 remaining, but Wooster led by as many as 11 points with 6:10 left in the game.

Tony Calloway scored two points at the buzzer to cut Wooster's final lead to 65-62.

Calloway led scoring for Oberlin with 22 points.

Iowa gets by Ohio State

COLUMBUS (AP) — Iowa needed a shot in the arm in the second half of its game against Ohio State. So the Hawkeyes turned to Nadine Domond to administer the medicine.

Domond scored 13 of Iowa's first 17 points in the half, and the No. 6 Hawkeyes went on to defeat Ohio State 82-75 Friday night.

She hit all eight of her free-throw attempts and was 3 of 5 from 3-point range, finishing with a game-high 27 points — all but three coming in the second half.

The game was tied at 31-31 with 1:59 left in the first half when Tiffany Gooden hit a 23-foot trey from the left wing to give Iowa (18-1, 9-0 Big Ten) the lead for good at 34-31. The Hawkeyes held a 39-35 advantage at halftime.

Katie Smith and Adrienne Johnson each had 22 points to pace the Buckeyes. Smith added five assists.
