

EC puts 'butt-kicking' on Lake Catholic

ELYRIA — It was another big run. It yielded a much bigger win. Elyria Catholic used a decisive stretch of the second and third quarters to beat Lake Catholic, 83-68, in a key North Coast League game Friday night at EC.

An 11-0 run starting at the end of the second quarter and carrying over into the third sent the Panthers past the powerful Cougars, who entered the game tied for the NCL lead.

EC used a similar run spanning the second and third quarters to beat Trinity on Tuesday. The Panthers have won two in a row to improve to 7-5 overall and 5-4 in

Panthers' solid all-around play deals loss to league co-leader the NCL. "It was a good old-fashioned butt-kicking," said Lake Catholic coach Tedd Kwasniak.

The Panthers led by seven, 35-28, before near the end of the second when the decisive run began with Jake Bailosky draining a 3-pointer.

When the spree ended on a Steve Less putback, EC led 46-28 with 6:18 left in the third quarter.

The Cougars would get no closer than 14 points.

"This was a good win for us," said Elyria Catholic coach Bob Walsh. "The key was we really did a good job early in the third quarter. Everybody made a contribution, our starters and the bench."

"What did I like best? The way they stayed in the system. As individuals they all played well, but as a team they blended together. A couple of times guys passed up good looks they had because they spotted others who had better looks."

Point guard Ross Rybarczyk kept the Panthers in the system by fending off Lake Catholic's desperate pressing and trapping.

Rybarczyk missed the teams' previous meeting in Mentor, which the Panthers dropped 61-58.

"Rybarczyk is a bad matchup for us," Kwasniak said. "We just don't have a real point guard to counter him. He could play for me any day. He's so crafty with the ball we just couldn't trap him. He's so smart. In my book he's that team's MVP."

Rybarczyk admitted it was the team's — and his — best game of the season.

"We really needed a big win like this," he said. "Coach keeps stressing that we stay in the system, pushing the ball up the court and looking always for open men."

Matt DelValle also was super for Elyria Catholic with 24 points, along with a good share of the rebounds and several impressive assists.

"This was my best game by far," DelValle said. "I've been slumping lately but felt good tonight. After getting a few early baskets (he had two 3-pointers to start EC's scoring) it gave my confidence a boost. This was a big win for us."

Steve Less had 14 points and Brett Clapham added 12 for the Panthers. Bailosky had nine.

In the junior varsity game, freshman Darius Jackson scored 12 to lead the Panthers to a 46-41 win.

Elyria Catholic travels to Notre Dame/Cathedral Latin next Friday in another NCL game.

basket that tied the score.

Still Olmsted Falls had the advantage. The Bulldogs had the basketball and the right man to take a last second shot. After all, Gansey had already scored 31 points.

Gansey dribbled away the time until less than 10 seconds were left. He went to the basket, but missed a tough shot in the lane. Avon Lake's Tom Port rebounded and heaved the ball ahead to Ingleright, who went in for the winning shot.

Avon Lake fans poured onto the court to celebrate. It's the first time the Shoremen have gone through the first half of the SWC undefeated in seven years. And Avon Lake is only the second school to beat Olmsted Falls on this floor in an SWC game in the last six years.

"I just threw it up and hoped it was there," said Port, a 6-foot-5 junior who scored 23 points, grabbed 10 rebounds and blocked four shots. "This is great."

If Olinger had asked Pat Donahue why Avon Lake had won the basketball game, the Olmsted Falls coach would've given him the answer.

"I got outcoached," Donahue said. "I don't do the simple things anymore. All I had to do is call timeout and then Mike (Gansey would've gotten that shot with three seconds left instead of six. I went brain-dead. I feel terrible for the kids. They played their hearts out, but I took the game away from them."

Actually neither team made many mistakes — mentally or physically. It was a phenomenal basketball game for high stakes between two excellent, well-coached teams. Rebounding was not a factor because both teams shot the ball so well.

Avon Lake hit 30 of 50 shots for 60 percent and 7 of 15 on 3-point attempts. The Shoremen were 5 for 5 from the foul line.

Neal Saluja and Joe Stanton held Ingleright to 12 points, 10 below his average, but Justin Booher, who'd been in a scoring slump, broke loose for 16 points and hit four 3-pointers. The Shoremen were also helped by the return of Jones, a freshman, who'd missed five games with a fracture. And Marc Jungermann sank two big shots, one a 3 pointer, within a minute of the fourth quarter to get the visitors to within 68-66, with 2:22 remaining.

Port, however, was the key man. He had four points in the first quarter, 10 in the second, four in the third and five in the fourth. He sank 10 of 11 shots.

They offset a tremendous performance by Gansey, who had nine rebounds, a blocked shot and four steals in addition to his 31 points. He hit 13 of 24 shots from the floor, including three 3-pointers. Saluja chipped in with 14, including a 50-foot bomb that went in as the first quarter ended.

Olmsted Falls was 28 of 53 from the field for 52.8 percent and 9 of 18 from behind the 3-point arc. The Bulldogs made 5 of 6 free throws.

Gansey scored eight points within a minute during the third quarter when Olmsted Falls broke out from a 42-40 lead to a 50-42 bulge. He hit a 3-pointer, then a basket and free throw and finally a slam dunk after a baseline move.

Saluja sank a 3-pointer with 2:22 left in the quarter to make it 58-49, and in the first few seconds of the final period, a basket and free throw by Armando

FLORES FLIES: Olmsted Falls' Armando Flores goes up for a shot.

Flores made it 61-51.

From there, Avon Lake launched its comeback, rattling off eight straight points. Brett Mitchell, who guarded Gansey in the fourth quarter, got a 3-pointer to start the rally. Booher hit two free throws and Port a basket and free throw to make it 61-59 with 6:14 left in the game.

The Bulldogs pushed it back to six, 65-59, when Gansey tipped in his own miss with 4:51 remaining, but Olmsted Falls scored only once more — a 3-point shot by Stanton with 2:42 on the clock.

Avon Lake outscored Falls 21-12 in the final eight minutes.
