

Avon Lake stays perfect at home

AVON LAKE — Home is sweet for Avon Lake, even if the visitors aren't from the same conference.

"We expected they'd make us work," Shoreman coach Dave Olinger said after his team won a 61-54 decision over Brunswick. "We were thankful this game was at home. I don't think we have lost here this season."

The Shoremen haven't. The Southwestern Conference title might be a long shot, but beating one of the premier teams from the tough Pioneer Conference was a shot in the arm for Avon Lake (12-3).

Brian Ingleright led the Shoremen with 17 points. Tom Port added 15 points and Paul Skellinger added a dozen. Avon Lake held Brunswick's top scorer, Mike Mixon, to six points and one field goal.

"We did an excellent job of being patient on offense and an excellent job on Mixon," Olinger said.

"All teams try to stop Mike," Brunswick coach Joe Mackey said. "He just has to play through it, and someone else has to step up. Our backcourt didn't play up to par tonight."

Mixon, who averages 15 points a game, was 1 for 12 from the field.

Rebounding, a weakness of the Shoremen in their last two games (losses to SWC rivals Amherst and Westlake), came through against Brunswick (11-4). Avon Lake snatched 28 boards to 22 for the Blue Devils. Skellinger and Port had nine and eight rebounds, respectively.

"They outplayed us at both ends," Mackey said. "When you come into a place like this you have to play well for four quarters, and that didn't take place."

AL jumped to a 20-11 lead early in the second quarter before Brunswick scored 10 in a row. The game seasawed from there, with neither club ahead by more than five until the last four seconds.

Mixon's jump shot gave Brunswick a 40-38 lead, but the Shoremen went on a 14-5 jaunt over 3:40 to take command. Avon Lake was ahead 56-51 with 37 seconds remaining.

Chuckie Frierson's three-point play cut Avon Lake's lead to two points with :27.7 to go. The Blue Devils regained possession at 25.1 when Tim Guenther dribbled the ball off his leg in the backcourt. The inbound pass went to Frierson, but his shot in the lane was missed. Skellinger rebounded, then passed to Guenther, who fired to Justin Booner breaking downcourt. Booner hit a layup, got fouled on the play and buried the free throw to put Avon Lake up by five with 15.3 seconds to play.

Yancer comes through for 'Cats

SHEFFIELD LAKE — If you saw Keystone's Jack Yancer walking down a street in LaGrange, the last thing you might imagine is the 5-foot-8, 145-pound senior winning a basketball game.

But that's pretty much what he did Tuesday night at Brookside in Lorain County Conference action.

Yancer, who didn't even get the starting nod against the Cardinals, iced Keystone's 54-49 triumph with four clutch free throws in the final 62 seconds in the face of Brookside's futile last-ditch rally. It avenged Keystone's earlier four-overtime 82-80 loss to the Cardinals on Jan. 7.

"I had trouble earlier in the season (at the free-throw line)," said Yancer, still dripping wet from his post-game shower, "but now our team is starting to pull together and I feel confident at the line."

"Jack shot about 90 percent (from the line) last year in JV," said Keystone coach Greg Morgan. "He started out this year missing a ton. You kind of wonder what was going on. I was really glad to see him do that."

Twice Keystone pulled out to comfortable margins — 32-27 late in the third period and 44-34 midway through the fourth — only to have Brookside battle back. The Cardinals had the deficit sliced to just 49-47 on a Todd Browning 3-pointer when Yancer cashed in his final two free throws with 27 ticks remaining.

It was Yancer that alertly called a time out as he slipped and fell in the backcourt just moments before hitting the first of his four tosses with 1:02 to play. That is the type of heady play Keystone needed to survive.

"The last couple games we've been losing those balls — turning it over," said Yancer. "I knew they were going to foul me. I was ready."

"We have smart kids," said Morgan, "and they're starting to make intelligent plays. You have to do that to win games at the end when they're close."

"Keystone did all the little things," Brookside coach Kevin Ciolek said. "They played hard. They deserved to win. They did a lot of stuff — hit free throws, took care of the basketball, boxed out on rebounds — things that win basketball games that we didn't do."

Dave Pangaris led Keystone's scoring with 18 points, including a three-point play and six of nine free throws in the final period. Dusty Banks added 14. Browning led all scorers with 20 points for the Cardinals.

The Wildcats won for only the second time in 10 league games and are now 4-11 overall. Brookside fell to 5-10 overall, 3-7 LCC.

Dukes turn over win to Clearview

LORAIN — It's probably safe to assume that the Clearview Clippers took the court Tuesday night thinking about the last time they met up with Wellington.

The Clippers avenged their only Lorain County Conference loss of the season, forcing 20 turnovers in the first half of a 68-48 win over the Dukes.

"Like I said at the beginning of the season, our defense creates our offense," said Clipper head coach John Szalay. "And our defense definitely set the tone tonight."

Clearview led only 12-9 after one period, despite forcing nine turnovers. A pair of threes from Wellington's Colby Whitney, who paced the Dukes with 24 points, kept the Dukes in the game.

The Clippers started the second off with a 11-0 run, pushing the lead to 23-9. By halftime, the lead was 35-17.

"Not to take anything away from Clearview, but we were really careless with the basketball tonight," said Wellington head coach Jerry Camp. "When you don't get the ball past half court, you don't get to shoot it."

Clearview's Kenny Gilbert led all scorers with 29 points. Gilbert also tallied seven steals, five boards and five assists.

"I know Kenny Gilbert was really a demon on defense in that first half," said Szalay. "Everywhere I looked he was getting a steal or a deflection."

In the third, with the Clippers' Miles Davis and Bret Schuster on the bench with foul trouble, the Dukes outscored Clearview 21-15.

"Tim Mills came in for us tonight and gave us a big lift," said Szalay.

Mills had five points and five boards while manning the post due to the Clippers' foul troubles.

Wellington only turned the ball over four times in the third, and Whitney tossed in 11. The Clipper lead was down to 12, at 50-38, heading into the fourth.

"Just like always, Jerry gets the most out of his kids," said Szalay. "They never gave up, and I knew they wouldn't."

The Clippers then took off on a 10-2 run over the first four minutes of the fourth, and the ballgame was essentially over.

Clearview leads the LCC at 9-1 and is 14-2 overall. The logs dropped the Dukes to 8-7 overall.

The Clippers also took JV honors, topping Wellington 42-29. Louis Thomas had 13 for the Clippers.
