Eagles get past feisty Middies in overtime

Ryan Dawson
The Chronicle-Telegram

GRAFTON — Danny White's 3-pointer from the top of the key with 40 seconds left was supposed to be the boost Midview needed to get past Avon on Friday night.

"I really thought that shot was finally going to get us over the top," Middies coach Troy DiFranco said.

White's three tied the game at 46 and gave Midview (1-13, 1-7 LCC), which had battled back from a 10-point second-half deficit, a bona fide shot at getting its second win of the season.

But January's bitter chill took the form of the Middies' shooters in overtime, and they wouldn't score again until David DiFranco's putback in the final seconds of a 58-48 loss.

"I'll tell you what, Midview's a pretty good team for having just one win," Avon coach Jim Baker said after the Eagles improved to 8-4, 5-3 in the Lorain County Conference. Avon is in a three-way tie for second place with Clearview and Wellington.

"Every guy we put on the floor stepped up," Baker said.

Brad Smitek led the Eagles with 22 points — sharing game-high honors with DiFranco — and it was his eight points in the fourth quarter that kept Avon in the game.

Though they're both 6-foot-6, Smitek and DiFranco play different styles of basketball. Smitek thrives on the perimeter, where he can knock down open jumpers and take defenders off the dribble and slash to the hole. DiFranco, on the other hand, has dominated the paint this year, which he did again Friday, hitting 8 of 10 shots from the floor and pulling down 21 rebounds.

"David and I know each other pretty well from playing against each other the last four years," said Smitek, whose driving layup past DiFranco with less than a minute to go in regulation gave Avon a 46-43 lead.

After White's three, Baker had the Eagles clear out so Smitek could go one-on-one with DiFranco. With the clock inside 15 seconds, DiFranco stepped up on Smitek at the top of the key and forced Smitek to his left (weak) hand. Smitek drove past a high screen and forced up a shot from the baseline with eight seconds left.

DiFranco snagged the rebound, turned and heaved the ball the length of the floor toward his basket. The shot hit nothing but the Avon cheerleaders, forcing a smile from Smitek.

"We were both laughing because neither one of us knew how much time was left when we each took our last shot," Smitek said.

DiFranco said he didn't get a good look at the clock before his heave.

"It's just one of those weird things that happens," he said. "When I got the rebound and looked up, my eye was blurry and I thought the clock said 0.6 seconds, instead of 5.6 seconds."

FALLS

From C1

He hit the first to give Falls a 52-50 lead with 4:38 left in the game. Wes Immler's 3-pointer regained the lead for Amherst, but Dan Binggeli sank a pair of free throws and then Scales sank his second 3-pointer to make it 57-53 for the Bulldogs with 2:45 remaining.

Falls closed things out with four free throws.

It was a game worth braving a snowstorm to see. Both teams played well and it came down to a few big plays in the fourth quarter. The victory gave the Bulldogs a 7-0 SWC record, two games ahead of Bay and three up on the Comets (7-4, 4-3).

"We figured Amherst would play a lot of zone," said Falls coach Pat Donahue. "I told Jamar to stay on the baseline and get into the dead spots. I told him not to go on the perimeter."

It was the kind of insubordination Donahue can endure because Scales played an all-around good game and scored 16 points.

"He let the game come to him," Donahue said. "He played under control."

But Monday it's back to the baseline.

"You have to tip your hat to them," said Amherst coach Mitch Gillam. "Some guys who haven't made 3-point shots like Scales and (Pat) Braddick made them."

Others like Olmsted Falls' Binggeli did what they've been doing for three years — make plays. Binggeli scored 21 points, hitting 6-of-11 from the floor, had eight rebounds, four assists and two steals.

Steve Gansey, playing with the flu, added 13 points and Braddick checked in with 10.

Antone DeJesus played a sensational game for the Comets with 18 points, 11 of them in the fourth quarter, and Immler poured in 17, making 6 of 10 shots including five threes.

"We had a couple of turnovers and that's what a game like this comes down to," said Gillam. "It was a pretty evenly played game. If we'd played every game with this kind of passion, we'd be in a totally different situation. If we use these four losses as a learning experience, it'll be a positive.

"Even though we lost two games this week, I think the program grew. The thing I hope we got out of the game is every time we take the floor we have to play at a high level. That's the key."

Olmsted Falls got its own learning experience from Monday's overtime loss to Warren Harding. Donahue stressed playing under control in the fourth quarter.

"We restressed it between (the third and fourth) quarters," he said. "We stressed playing smart basketball and not getting crazy. We did a nice job playing within ourselves."

It was an important win for Falls because the Bulldogs, seeking a ninth straight SWC title, have to play six of seven conference games on the road in the second half, starting Tuesday at Avon Lake. On Friday, Falls will have its rematch with Bay.

"It was important that we were 7-0 at the halfway point," Donahue said. "Now we have to go on the road and do a good job."

Free throws and free-throw shooting favored Olmsted Falls on Friday. The Bulldogs were 17-of-24 from the line; Amherst was 4-of-9 — all by DeJesus. Amherst sank 24-of-48 from the floor for 50 percent to Falls' 20-of-47 for 42.5 percent.

Amherst used a seven-man rotation and was hurt when Phil Gonzales fouled out midway through the fourth quarter. Ryan Nowicki finished the game with four fouls.

'CATS

From C1

"That's our strong point, our defense," said Morgan after his 'Cats ran their regular-season winning streak to 20 games. "Then we can get out and run."

The 'Cats, ranked second in the state in Division II, barely slipped past the Dukes, 58-55, when the teams played at Wellington. This one was tight, too, until the 'Cats took over the game in the third quarter thanks mainly to their aggressive defense and at least in part to Wellington's poor shooting.

Keystone led 33-28 at halftime, but a Cody Kidd 3-pointer pulled the Dukes within 35-33 just a minute into the third quarter. Over the next 10 minutes, however, Wellington scored three points.

Three. Keystone scored 19.

That's called ballgame.

"We didn't get too many open looks," said Wellington coach Tom Eibel, who was denied his 500th career coaching victory. "Defensively, they really get after it. Tonight there were no easy baskets."

There weren't a lot of turnovers, either. Wellington had eight for the game and just one during those lost 10 minutes.

What the Dukes (7-5, 5-3) didn't do was make shots. In fact, they went six straight possessions without making a basket, scored one on a putback, then missed shots on their next four possessions, missed two free throws and then closed the third quarter with two more missed shots to trail 51-35.

The misery continued some three minutes into the fourth.

The Dukes were 3-for-16 from the field in the third and 17-for-56 (30 percent) for the game, not winning numbers against too many teams and especially not against the 'Cats, who were a little better shooting at 23-for-52 (44 percent).

"I thought our shot selection let us down a little bit tonight," Eibel said. "We're more comfortable when we're sharing the ball more. They forced us to shoot off the dribble too much."

Of course, the 'Cats were playing a little offense, too, during the pivotal third quarter. The two biggest shots were a pair of 3-pointers from Bartlett, who scored a game-high 26 points.

It was still a 10-point game when the senior buried his first three from the corner with 1:12 to go in the third to give the 'Cats a 48-35 lead. After a Duke miss at the other end, Bartlett drilled another three from just about the same spot to make the score 51-35 with 43 seconds left.

"I was just playing through the flow of our offense," Bartlett said. "You just have to step up."

"Those two from the corner sealed the ballgame," Eibel said. "We didn't have any way to counter those because we were so slow scoring. It took us four trips to score six points."

The Dukes didn't have any way to counter Clowser, either. The big center had a game-high 14 rebounds and scored 13 points on 6-for-7 shooting, despite fouling out.

"He owned the block," Morgan said. "I thought he had good strong moves when he was down on the block."

Jake Bailosky added 11 points and pulled down seven rebounds, five on the offensive end, for the 'Cats. Todd Schlenkerman had eight points and seven rebounds. Kidd was the only Duke in double figures with 12 points. Tyler Whitney had nine points and seven rebounds.

"To beat Keystone in this gym, against this team, this year, if you don't shoot the ball pretty doggone well, you're not going to win," Eibel said. "And we didn't."

WELLINGTON (51): Whitney 3-2-9, Kidd 3-4-12, Halderman 0-0-0, Haswell 1-1-3, West 1-1-3, Dulemba 2 2-6, Fullen 3-0-7, Cook 3-0-8, Vance 1-1-3. Totals 17-10-51.
