Bay duo qualifies for state mat meet

By SCOTT VOLPE
Morning Journal Writer

AKRON — For the first time in three years, Bay's Colin O'Donoghue will have some company on his trip to Dayton.

Brian Todd last night assured Rocket teammate O'Donoghue that he would not have to go it alone at this week's state wrestling tournament by winning 145-pound championship at the Division II district tournament at Firestone High.

The senior's first district title and first state berth was gained with a 4-3 decision over Mike Waskiewicz of Twinsburg Chamberlin.

"I didn't want Colin to go back there alone," said Todd, a district qualifier last year. "My goal all along was to improve and do something to the people around here."

Todd, 37-2, did so by manhandling the reluctant Waskiewicz and handing him his second loss in 25 matches. Todd had the advantage throughout the match, building a 4-1 lead on his slippery opponent until the final 30 seconds, then selectively surrendering 2-point reversal before time expired.

"When he spun me I was kind of tired," said Todd. "I just decided to give up the two points instead of taking a chance he'd get a five-point move."

"He was real wet and I was having a hard time getting a hold of him. I wanted to turn him a couple of times and just couldn't get a grip."

O'Donoghue, 35-2, locked up a third straight state berth at 125 via the consolation bracket after a losing shocking 10-4 semifinal decision to eventual champion Michael Philabaum of Northwest. The lower bracket proved to be a motivation enough as O'Donoghue breezed through two opponents to claim third place.

"I feel like I'm going to kill the kid I lost to when we get to state," said O'Donoghue. "I got down and was trying to play a catch-up game, but I feel real strong about beating him next week. I've been to state, I've been to nationals, I know the pressure and I'm going to take it."

Said Bay coach Rick O'Donoghue, "This was an outstanding tournament for Brian, and we're really looking forward to seeing if both these kids can take it all next week."

Avon Lake coach Ken Weaver is similarly intrigued by the prospects for 130-pounder Shawn Bristow, who suffered a telling loss Friday and had to battle through the consolation bracket to earn a trip to Dayton.

The junior, now 29-3, squeezed out an overtime decision over St. Vincent-St. Mary's Chris Plouse in the first lower bracket match, won his second match 8-6, then avenged his quarterfinal loss to Northwest's Doug Ruehling by beating Ruehling for third place.

"We knew he was capable of doing it, but his always tough to come back from a loss," said Weaver. "Shawn just kept getting stronger as things went on, though."

Shoremans Ryan Pallinger and Erik Mathisen provided more ups and downs. Pallinger, now 27-2 but undefeated at 215 entering the districts, suffered two losses yesterday, settling for fourth place and his first state berth after losing Rick Conroy of Chardon. Conroy also brought a perfect mark into the tournament.

At the opposite end of the spectrum, Avon Lake got a surprise berth from the 26-11 Mathisen, who had to fight back through the bottom of the 189 consolation bracket and rely on the help of others.

Mathisen, a sophomore getting his first taste of districts, scored a major decision over Firelands' Joe Brown and a pin in his first two matches, then lost the semifinal for third place to Jim Ayers of Lake Catholic, falling into an iron-dripping battle for the fifth and final state berth against Highland's Michael Stepp.

Stepp decisioned Mathisen 5-3 in the first round Friday, but last night Mathisen turned the tables with a 5-2 romp.

"I took a hard shot early in the first one and wasn't as aggressive as I should have been," said Mathisen. "But I knew I I did some things wrong and I could beat him. This feels great."

Furthering the ironic twist was the fact that had Stepp lost his second match Friday, Mathisen would have stayed home yesterday.

"We were really worried about that kid losing his next match," said Weaver.

The plot was not as thick for Firelands' Matt Kovach, but the 103-pounder had a tough road to Dayton nonetheless. Kovach also fought through the consolation bracket to defeat Chamberlin's John Novario for fifth place and become the Falcons' lone representative to state.

RISON

he's a good man. I believe people can change with a change of climate.

"Right now we're just talking. Hopefully before the end of the week, we might (make an offer). That's all I can say at this point."

Just how much money will it take to lure Rison to Cleveland?

Probably between $13 million to $15 million over five years.

When it comes to choosing a new home, though, money will talk, and his agent, Charles Tucker, says Rison will listen.

The Browns biggest competition for Rison will come from the Green Bay Packers. The Packers, desperate for a star receiver after releasing Sterling Sharpe, sent offensive coordinator Sherman Lewis to Atlanta Feb. 16, the day before free agency opened.

Lewis obeyed the rules and had no contact with Rison until hunting season began the next morning, but before noon, Lewis and Rison met, and Lewis let him know how much the Packers wanted him. As with the Browns, however, it was a feeling-out session; no offer was made.

'Jacks wake up, top Vipers

By ROBERT WANSKA
Morning Journal Correspondent

CLEVELAND — For the first two periods of their game against the Detroit Vipers, the Lumberjacks looked very much like a team that was playing its second game in less than 24 hours, which they were.

Subsequently, the 'Jacks found themselves down 3-0 after the Vipers' Jay Mazur scored a power-play goal at the 7:33 mark of the third period. However, Cleveland's Ed Patterson scored a goal just 21 seconds later, and suddenly, something magical happened... the 'Jacks realized they had a hockey game to play.

And play they did, staging a 3-goal comeback for the second straight game, culminating in a Dale DeGray goal with 1:06 left to send the game into a shootout, where the 'Jacks notched a 4-3 victory in front of 14,661 shocked and stunned fans at Gund Arena.

"It didn't look very good when we were down 3-0," said Lumberjacks coach Rick Patterson, who saw his team move above the .500 mark at 27-28-9 for the first time since Feb. 12. "The guys really dug down and never said die."

It almost looked as if the 'Jacks just might die, though. After a scoreless first period that saw Cleveland get stopped on numerous occasions by Detroit goalie Rick Knickle, who finished with 39 saves, the Vipers struck early in the second period. Center Peter Ciavaglia took a pass from teammate Al Conroy, crossed the Cleveland blue line and took what appeared to be a harmless slapshot in an attempt to dump the puck into the zone. However, a funny thing happened to the puck on its way into the zone. It found its way through Cleveland goaltender Patrick LaLime's legs and into the net to give the Vipers a 1-0 lead just 56 seconds into the period.

That was all of the scoring in the second period, but as far as the 'Jacks were concerned, they weren't without their chances.

While the Vipers were playing at a one man disadvantage, Knickle was given penalties for unsportsmanlike conduct and slashing 30 seconds apart to give the 'Jacks a 5-on-3 advantage for 2:36, an advantage they failed to score on.

"We didn't execute on the 5-on-3, and I thought that was going to come back and really haunt us," Patterson said. The 'Jacks had another golden opportunity in the second period when Knickle couldn't pull in a shot by Brad Lauer, and Jock Callander picked up the loose puck and had an empty net to shoot into. However, his shot sailed wide of the net.

Former Lumberjack Sandy Smith put a wrist shot over LaLime's glove-side shoulder to give the Vipers a 2-0 lead early in the third period. And when Mazur put a rebound past a diving LaLime, things looked bleak for Cleveland. But Patterson's goal pumped life into the crowd at the Gund, who had been fairly silent until that point, as well as the 'Jacks themselves.

"It was really nice to come back and give the team a spark," Patterson said. "That's all we need sometimes is a spark, and then we'll start rolling."

Almost nine minutes after Patterson's goal, a streaking Eric Murano took a pass from Callander, who was waiting behind the Vipers' net, and put the puck past Knickle to cut the lead to 3-2. The goal was Murano's team-leading 29th of the season.

The 'Jacks called a timeout at the 18:23 mark and pulled LaLime to add an extra attacker. Their strategy paid off as Lauer found DeGray, who saw a clear path between himself and Knickle and put a shot over Knickle's stick to tie the game.

Penguins, Murphy slap Bruins

NHL ROUNDUP

BOSTON (AP) — Boston goalie Vincent Riendeau was expecting Pittsburgh's Ron Francis to shoot. He passed.

Riendeau was expecting Larry Murphy to pass. He shot, scoring the game-winning with 24 seconds left in overtime last night to lift the Penguins past the Bruins 4-3.

"He (Francis) was trying to shoot from the left. He saw the goalie lined up to him," Murphy said. "He dropped it to me and the goalie didn't have time to adjust."

Murphy took the pass in the middle and wristed it past Riendeau. It was Pittsburgh's only shot in overtime.

Jets 4, Sharks 2
WINNIPEG, Manitoba — Alelexi Zhamnov had a goal and two assists to give the Winnipeg Jets a victory over the San Jose Sharks.

Keith Tkachuk, Teemu Selanne and Nelson Emerson also scored for the Jets (7-11-3), who tied Dallas for last place in the Central Division. Gaetan Duchesne and Jeff Friesen scored for San Jose, second in the Pacific Division at 9-10-2.

Whalers 3, Lightning 2
HARTFORD, Conn. — Hartford forward Robert Kron scored at 1:11 of overtime on a blast from the left circle to give the Whalers a victory over Tampa Bay.

Kron, assisted by Jimmy Carson, broke in from the blue line and beat Tampa Bay goalie Daren Puppa with a 30-footer. The goal was Kron's eighth of the season and his first game-winner.

Devils 5, Panthers 4
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Brian Rolston and John MacLean scored goals 96 seconds apart, igniting a five-goal second period by New Jersey that carried the Devils to a victory over the Florida Panthers.

New Jersey improved its record against Florida to 5-0-2 as the Panthers saw their three-game unbeaten streak (1-0-2) come to an end.

Nordiques 1, Sabres 1
QUEBEC — Defenseman Uwe Krupp scored at 5:29 of the third period, giving the Quebec Nordiques a tie with the Buffalo Sabres.
